FROM THE HOT SEAT

It is so exciting that as I write this, in 2 short weeks it will be time for the Local Is Lekker Quilt Retreat.

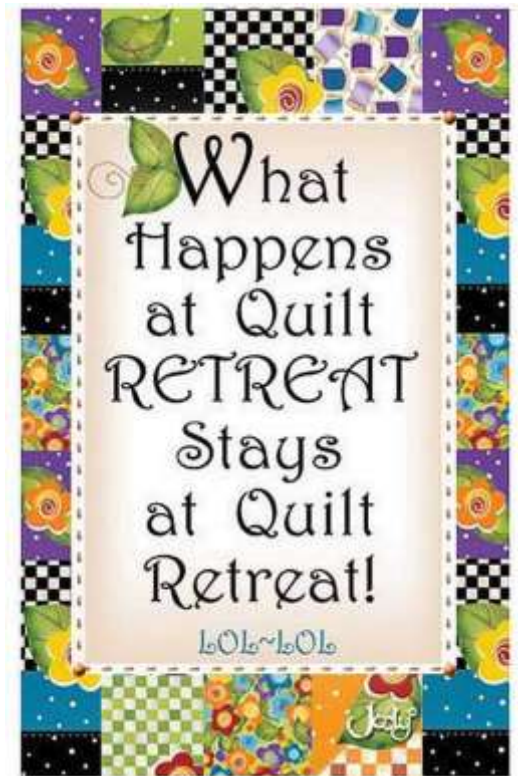

The quilts are all handed in and ready for judging. The teachers are busily preparing their classes and the festival committee is putting the final touches in place to make the weekend a memorable one for everyone who attends.

There is still time to book for classes or to book to see the quilt show. It's going to be a weekend to remember. I can't wait to see everyone again.

I wish you all a very Merry Christmas. May you all be abundantly blessed, stay safe and well during the forthcoming holidays.

Yours in stitches

Sue

Quilt on the Cover

Namibia Dreams by Moira Ryder

Made during lockdown 2020 ( 90 x 76 cm )

This wall-hanging quilt departed from Moira's usual handwork, into machine stitching and quilting. Each block was made, quilted and then joined to the others using Quilt-As-You-Go method.

Parts of the quilt are woven, and there are even dried tea bags included!

Moira loves deserts and this is her own design.

showcasing-- Moira Ryder

Moira Ryder was a member of Grassroots Quilters Guild in their early days and is now an active member of both the Midlands Quilters Guild and the Meander Quilters Guild. Moira has been the chairlady of the Midlands Quilters Guild more times than she can remember.

She is a much-loved member of KZNQG and has been an inspiring guest speaker several times. Her most memorable topics being on quilt history.

Moira's quilts have been published in various publications in South Africa including Threads and Crafts and Craftwise magazines. Her Victorian Crazy Patch was published in Lesley Turpin-Delport's book, Quilts and Quilting, in South Africa published in 1991.

Moira is an award winning master quilter, having won 6 awards at South African National Festivals. In 1996, at the Seasons Festival in Durban, she won a second prize in the Traditional Pieced Category with her quilt called "Lee's Scraps". This quilt was chosen by Hazelmay Duncan to be her Judge's Choice.

She won the second prize in Best of Country at the World Quilt Show in 2005 with her quilt called "Sunny Sunflowers".

She has won several special prizes and first prizes at the Royal Show in Pietermaritzburg as well as several prizes in regional KZNQG competitions.

She is very passionate about antique quilts and has made a large number of replicas. She has a great love of quilt history.

Inspired by a special exhibit of African textiles she saw in America in 2003, her work took a small detour into exploring African textiles. Her African textiles series will be featured at the upcoming Iztosha "Local is Lekker" Exhibition.

Moira is very generous with her knowledge and skills and has taught classes for many years. She is an inspiration to everyone who crosses her path.

Patchwork and Quilting Dec 2000

Pearly Whites

One Sunday our newspaper was delivered with a sample packet of toothpaste. I am perfectly happy with my regular toothpaste, but this was a gift, absolutely free, and therefore I kept it.

We are expecting a house guest, and I have been cleaning. I vacuumed and dusted and then turned my attention to the bathroom. I scrubbed the porcelain and polished the chrome, but the grout was still ringed mossy gray.

I remembered that toothpaste. Why not try it on bathroom tile? I found an old toothbrush and set to work. The results were amazing. If I were to take someone on a tour of the house, I would probably start with the bathroom and show off my sparkling shower. Toothpaste! Who'd have thought?

The Household Hints column in the newspaper is filled with suggestions for using everyday commodities for odd applications. Who discovered these innovations? What sort of creative people realize that ordinary things are wonder products? Quilters, especially, are notorious for solving problems in nonprescribed ways. Inventiveness is what quilting has always been about. Early American quilters pieced their quilts from scraps and salvaged worn quilts by covering them with new patchwork. They marked quilting lines by drawing around dishes or rubbing soot from the kerosene lamp through little holes they'd poked through paper patterns onto their quilt tops.

Who pricked her finger and realized that meat tenderizer would remove the blood spots from her quilt?

How did someone know that hair spray would remove ballpoint pen marks?

Who first used masking tape to mark straight quilting lines? And who discovered that plain old rubbing alcohol will remove the crusty residue left by the tape? Alcohol, water, and a dab of dishwashing soap make a magic mixture that removes pencil marks from quilts. What genius put that together?

Who discovered that we can press freezer paper onto fabric or cut it into sheets to feed through our computer printers and create made-to-order fabric details and labels for our quilts?

Now the point of all this is to marvel at the inventive minds of quilters. They've had lots of practice making geometric pieces fit together neatly. They have coped with crises: spilled coffee, nicked fingers, bleeding fabric dyes, and fabric shortages. They reach into their everyday cupboards and drawers to solve problems and create wonders. They blot with paper towel, tea-dip their bits and pieces of material, and salvage the very best kind of pins from the collars of men's new shirts. They remove lint from their sewing machine feed dogs with clean mascara brushes and pull bits of thread from ripped seams with surgical tweezers.

Years ago, quilters devised quilt frames that hung from the ceiling, lowering them on pulleys to quilt during the day and raising them out of the way at night. Today we work on frames made of plumbing pipes. Surely that invention was born in the astute brain of a quilter.

Every seam we sew, every joining, every stitch requires us to be clever, to manipulate our fabric into perfect geometrics, to fashion our thoughts into visible form. We turn disasters into creative triumphs. Hooray for the quilter who figured out how to piece the needle-thin points of a Mariner's Compass by stitching her fabric to paper patterns. Bless the quilter who devised quick half-square triangles. We are inventors.

My toothpaste is now tucked into a drawer in my workroom, just in case. One day I just might discover a use for it in my quilting. ©HK 2007

Help make 'lekker' quilts for charity

THE KZN Quilters Guild will host a Local Lekker Fundraising Quilting Retreat from November 12 to 14 at Stanger Christian Trust in Umhlanga in the South Coast.

The fundraiser will be held ahead of the 2024 Quilting Festival and there will be a massive quilt display, classes and a sewing competition for charity.

A quilt is a multi-layered textile, traditionally composed of three layers of fabric or fibre. These layers traditionally include a woven cloth top, a layer of batting or wadding, and a woven back material using the techniques of quilting.

Hillcrest resident, Leanne Stewart, who is also the chairperson of the 2024 Quilting Festival, said quilters are generous people and continuously making beautiful quilts for charity. She said that lockdown made it difficult to find people as the quilters were unable to meet or host events.

The quilters aim to make 600 quilts before the 2024 KZN festival, where people will be able to learn to make quilts. A few of these quilts will be donated to old-age homes and the underprivileged.

In an interview with the Highway Mail, Stewart and another Upper Highway quilter, Sue Cameron, revealed they will make Love Quilts for local charities as well as bags that will be filled with much-needed of items.

"These bags will be donated to Hutchinson patients at Grey's hospital in Pietermaritzburg. They will contain all sorts of items to help the patient through their pain, including a pair of 'Knitted Knockers'."

"Knitted Knockers are special handmade breast prostheses for women who have undergone mastectomies or other procedures to the breast. Knitted Knockers are soft, comfortable, beautiful and, when placed in a regular bra, they take the shape and feel of a real breast," said Stewart.

Cameron added that this retreat is open to any keen quilter, even novices, and there are numerous prizes up for grabs, including a Brenna Cude Frame valued at R17 000. The competition entry is R100 per quilt.

"Some people think quilting is for old people, but it is suitable for everyone, so we are inviting people to try it. Once you have made your first quilt, it sticks you in. Quilting is calming, healing and it is just a wonderful thing to do," said Cameron.

There will also be lucky draw prizes that include two weekend getaways. There are weekend accommodation or day attendee options. Day visitors are welcome to visit the quilt display at R50 per person.

Upper Highway residents, Sue Cameron and Leanne Stewart, with a few award-winning quilts, invite KZN residents to a Local Lekker Fundraising Quilting Retreat.

During the month of October, four local publications carried articles about quilting.

Thanks to Sue, Leanne, Beth, Annette, Lorette and Magda (and the background people not appearing in these photos) for holding the quilting banner high!

QUEENSBURGH QUILTERS

Queensburgh Quilters have resumed their meetings and what a joy it was to be with each other again!!

Our dear friend and fellow quilter, Joy Anne Juckes, passed away on the 29th September. Joy had been one of the founder members of QQ when it first met in 1993 and we will certainly miss her. Our condolences to her husband, Ashley, and her family.

We are currently working on our Round Robin modern style quilts and every second month we pass the box containing the quilt we have just worked on to the next quilter for her to work on . I think we have all been enjoying this challenge so far with no complaints from the girls! Beth Barkus has certainly motivated us all and made us think "out of the box" with this! Well done Beth.

We are all going to Izotsha and are really looking forward to this wonderful quilting retreat. As we should be holding our November meeting that Saturday, don't be surprised to find a quick QQ meeting taking place in the garden! We have all signed up for various different classes with a couple of us bringing handwork to do at our own pace.

We hope that 2022 will be a better year for everyone and wish our fellow quilters all the best for the forthcoming year.

SEW WOT QUILTERS GUILD

It is most incredible that, as we write this article, October is almost over, and only 9 weeks are left before Christmas makes its appearance once again.

In September Sew Wot members got away for a quilting / relaxing retreat just outside Howick, at a magnificent spot called Hill House. Sadly, two of our members could not attend, however, the 8 of us who did get away loved every moment of the quilting, wine drinking, eating, walking in the forest, relaxing and huge amounts of chatting and laughter. We are hoping to repeat this exercise next year, but this time with all our members attending.

We wish you all a safe and Covid-free festive season full of love and companionship.

SHEFFIELD NITE OWLS

Hi Everyone! It only seems a few weeks since I wrote the last Sheffield Nite Owls newsletter, but I guess we've had 3 meetings since then.

We have finished our group quilt and it is duly entered in the Local is lekker competition - the quilting was the easy part - trying to enter "on line" was another story! Thanks to Leanne Stewart who got a few "help" whatsapps and who graciously guided me through the process we finally got our number and it has been delivered to Durban North. Next time I'm delegating that job to someone far more technologically savvy than me. Give me a sewing machine any day!!

We are busy finishing some love quilts for 2024. Alice left us about 6 quilt tops when she moved to Cape Town, so several of us have taken one to complete. Two are done and four to go but we'll get there. Fiona and Rosa took a quick trip to Clarens at the beginning of the month and both enjoyed attending a workshop.

So we look forward to Christmas and here's hoping 2022 brings lots of new experiences from the quilting world.

TOLLGATE Guild

The Tollgate Quilters have now had two Saturday afternoon meetings at our new venue, and we LOVE it!

In a peaceful, safe and secluded spot in the middle of the beautiful Burnam Bush, we meet to share our love of fabric... and the art of quilting. While celebrating the diversity of our group, we also celebrate that which brings us together.

Some of our members have planned to go to the Izotsha retreat in November, and we look forward to their feedback and seeing what they have completed on their courses.

We have missed our meetings and the camaraderie of our friends, and ironically, as we start to get used to being together, it is almost time for our Christmas meeting break. We look forward to our "Christmas Celebration" meeting on the last Saturday of November... and then we will be meeting again on the last Saturday in January.

If you would like to come down to the woods and join us, you would be more than welcome... but until then, on behalf of all the Tollgate quilters, I would like to wish all the KZN quilters a Blessed Christmas and a Prosperous and Healthy New Year.

Warm Hugs

QUILTER'S PSALM

Quilting is my hobby, I shall not want.
It maketh me to walk in the isles of a fabric shop and buy yards of calicos and solids to put into drawers for future quilts. It satisfyeth my soul.

Yea, though I walk through my dusty and messy house, I will not be ashamed for my quilting friends sake, for I know that they are in the same mess I am in.

I have before me a table where I cut hundreds of pieces to sew together and then I make a beautiful quilt. My cup runneth over.

Surely quilting shall fill my days as long as I am physically able and I shall snuggle under the warmth of a quilt all the days of my life.

Sara Miller

PLEASURETIME QUILTERS GUILD

Pleasuretime Quilters Guild held their monthly meeting on the 21st October 2021. We had a wonderful turnout of members. Loads of chatter & stimulating conversation + lovely eats for teatime.

Sandy from the Umdoni Sparkles group gave us a wonderful demonstration of how you start a colour wash quilt. She displayed a few samples that were stunning.

The demonstration at our September meeting was making a quilted basket. We were all invited to "show & tell" what we had made in the following month. The best 2 were awarded a prize as voted by the members.

Janet & Heather demonstrated their version of a mug bag - very useful in our Covid times.

Greetings from a South Coast that just can't make up its mind if it's spring, summer or winter. Hot, icy cold, wet, blowing gales and Berg winds – and we are not sure if we can pack our winter woollies away!

We have had a busy time. The goodies we handed over to the Light a Sparke Project were distributed and gratefully received.

We were very fortunate to have both Mandy Kirk and Leanne Stewart come and visit in August. It was like communication with the outside world! Mandy gave us a talk on SAQG and the work they are involved in and Leanne brought us up to date with the plans for the Festival and also information on the Local is Lekker weekend at Izotsha.

Many of the guild members are all reasonably close to Izotsha so there are plans afoot to visit and take advantage of the vendors. Looking forward to that weekend!

Mandy also demonstrated the Julie bag – wow – she's quick! Kits were available so we are looking forward to seeing the completed bags at Show and Tell in weeks to come.

One of our projects a while back was to design blocks for a quilt to be raffled for Festival funds. We finally got it done and dusted and were able to present Leanne with a very nice amount to be used towards the Festival. (picture at right).

We would like to challenge the other Guilds to match or better our donation. The trick is that we are not going to reveal the amount we gave!

In September we handed the 25 quilts we made to Ntobeko Zama from Choc. Ntobeko gave a talk on the activities of Choc as well as the background support they give to parents of the children. After the meeting we had a sew along – how nice to be able to sew, chat and just enjoy each other's company.

Keep well quilters!
